NATIONAL NEWS PHILADELPHIA FIRE Six Persons Are Buried Beneath the Central Theatre Ruins

Philadelphia, April 29—At noon the director of public safety visited the scene of this weeks fire and made careful inspection. He was accompanied by Chief Engineer Cantlin, and Fire Marshal Thompson. The director penetrated far into the ruins and was interviewed by a reporter of The United Press. "I have given orders that all things possible be done to recover the bodies of the dead," he said, "and work will be commenced at once. Up to the present time but six have been reported missing, and they are all members of "The Devil's Auction" company."

"Before the bodies can be reached the walls standing at the rear of the theatre must be taken down, as they are in a dangerous condition and liable to fall at any moment. Fire Marshal Thompson has been instructed to go to work at once. After the walls are down the work of recovering the bodies of the dead will proceed rapidly. The water, which has a depth of seven feet in the cellar, will have to be gotten out and we are already trying to pump it off from the Sansom street side."

A Vest Pocket Speculation

El Paso, Tex., April 29. —Jay Gould purchased the White Oaks railroad, ten miles in length, paying $50,000 for it. Construction trains were at once set at work grading, and the line will be extended to White Oaks, its original prospective terminus. It is said that Gould will extend this line through the Panhandle and Oklahoma to Kiowa, Kan., to connect with the Missouri Pacific, and then he will then build a line from this city to Guaymus on the gulf of California, where he has valuable concessions, as an outlet to his northern and southern systems.

A Michigan Town's Heavy Loss

Detroit, April 29—The entire business portion of the town of Chase, located on the Marquette river and the Flint and Pierre Marquette railroad, seven miles west of Reed City, was destroyed by fire last Wednesday night. The wind was blowing a gale, and in less than two hours every building on both sides of the street for three blocks was in ruins. Sixty-two buildings were destroyed, including four general stores, three hotels, Odd Fellows' hall and post office. The loss of J. W. Wells, hardware dealer, is $10,000. Mrs. Jennie Gordo, general store, losses $4,000; insurance $1,000. J. Knelvels, general store, loss $2,500; no insurance. On all other property the insurance is not more than $4,400. The fire was the work of an incendiary and a warrant is out for the suspected party.

A Big Steamer Goes Down

Atlantic City, NJ, April 29—Another was added to the New Jersey coast's list of wrecks on the grounding and sinking of a large side wheel steamer. The boat was in tow of a tug going down the coast, and was seen by the life saving crew of Chelsea station. Captain Gaskell's life saving crew put out to her rescue, but before reaching her the tug cut loose and steamed some distance from the vessel. When the crew reached the vessel, the stern was so far under water that her name could not be distinguished. Several life buoys from the boat were washed ashore and on them was the name "George Leary." The captain and crew are supposed to have been transferred to the tug, and no one connected with the vessel has been seen by any one here.

The Train Crew Lose Their Lives

Engine No. 27, with a heavy train of freight cars, dashed through the trestle into the swollen mill stream beneath. The cars were loaded with pig iron and coal and crushed down upon the engine which was buried in water. The bodies of the men have not been recovered from the debris.

Tarred a Scandal Writer

Oshkosh, Wis., May 3—A mob entered the barbershop of Frank J. Victoris about 9 o'clock and tarred and feathered him. For several weeks the Chicago Sunday Sun has been sold in this city. Every issue contained a scurrilous letter in which scandalous charges were made against some of the best known and most influential people of this city. About a dozen of the injured persons heading a small mob visited his shop and forced him to confess. They then stripped him and put on the tar and feathers. He made no resistance. The crowd numbered several hundred, but were quiet and the police did not interfere.

Tarred and Feathered a Woman

Lessuer Centre, Minn., May 3.—The ultra sensational case of Mrs. Katie Boyd against Cornelius Hessian and his three sons ended in a verdict of $6,000 in favor of Mrs. Boyd. It is shown in the testimony that the Hessian family had gone to the home of Mes. Boyd at midnight, and because of a fancied wrong at an earlier date had tarred and feathered her and left her. Had not neighbors discovered her she would have soon died.

Philadelphia, May 3.—Five hundred school children connected with the Vaughn Grammar school in Kensington went on strike because a new principal had been put in charge of the school. They locked the gates of the school by wrapping wire about the posts and it was found necessary to call in the aid of eight policemen, who finally drove the recalcitrant boys away and opened the school.

Death and Destruction

Topeka, May 4—A cyclone swept over a scope of the country, three by ten miles, eight miles from this city, carrying death and destruction in it's path. Within thirty minutes after the bank of clouds was first seen they "fused," as one eyewitness puts it, and the cyclone burst in all it's fury on the Mission creek valley. In a twinkling houses and barns were torn to pieces and scattered in every direction. Joseph Heil's farmhouse was crushed like an eggshell and Mr. Heil was terribly injured in the back and about the head. It is not believed that he can live. His little daughter had her arm broken, a boy had his collar bone and his leg broken and all the other

STATE NEWS.

Methodist Conference

Omaha, May 2—The twenty-first quadrennial Methodist conference was inaugurated yesterday afternoon by a monster mass-meeting held at the Exposition hall, which was crowded with people. It was presided over by Bishop Bowman of St. Louis, the oldest bishop in the church. Mrs. Newman, wife of Bishop Newman of Omaha, gave the opening prayer, and after the usual devotional services, the mission question was thoroughly discussed. Chaplain McCabe of Chicago delivered an interesting address, as also did Miss Baker of Michigan and Bishop Walden.

Baptists Resign

Omaha, May 2—Considerable surprise and consternation was created at the First Baptist church yesterday morning when after the sermon the entire board of deacons resigned their offices. The trouble was caused by an attack made upon the board by a member, who charged them with shielding prominent members who had failed to live up to their "covenant of faith." The resignations will probably be refused.

Kiefer's Nebraska Divorce

Wife No. 1 seeking to have the divorce annulled on the ground of Fraud.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat reports the following story of a deception played against an innocent young lady of Grand Island:

Pueblo, Colo., April 29—Edward C.W. Kiefer, manager of the Glade-Kiefer dry goods store of this city, has two wives on his hands and a divorce suit pending. Kiefer landed in Grand Island, Neb., some time in the year 1890, joined a presbyterian church choir, and made himself solid in the family of Henry Glade, a prosperous German citizen. Early last year Glade opened a store in Pueblo with Kiefer in charge. The young man joined a church choir there and soon became quite popular. On New Year's Day he was married to Miss Christine Glade, a very pretty young daughter of Kiefer's backer. Kiefer passed a restless honeymoon flitting in and out of Pueblo with his bride. In January Mrs. Maggie Kiefer came from Allegheny City, Pa., sought counsel of a minister and secured a position as clerk in a dry goods store near the Glade store. She looks very young, and is so modest and quiet that she has won the respect of all her associates. Yesterday, she brought suit for divorce from Kiefer on the ground that he has not been legally divorced, and asks for $5,000 alimony. Kiefer obtained a divorce in Hitchcock County, Neb., last September, claiming desertion, and on this basis married again. She possesses letters by the score and other documents to prove her case, which is in the hands of able attorneys. Kiefer will rely on the legality of the Nebraska divorce proceedings. While living in Pittsburg, acting as collector for a life insurance company, Kiefer, it is alleged, appropriated money belonging to three widows. He was detected, and persuaded his wife's mother to go security to save him from punishment. He then decamped, leaving the debt and two little children for his wife to care for. She lost the children, and is still trying to pay off that debt. This is her reason for getting alimony. Interesting stories of Kiefer's past conduct are numerous. The case will probably come up next week.

Fred Nye, our own Fred Nye of Fremont, has been promoted to the position of night editor of the Chicago Herald. He gets a princely salary, and earns it too.

Two men from Wisconsin blew out the gas in their bedroom in an Omaha hotel, swallowed the escaping gas, and were found unconscious next morning. One of them was resuscitated in the afternoon, the other one will probably die.

GRAND ISLAND & HALL COUNTY NEWS.

The Grand Island Plattduetsche Vereen celebrated it's second anniversary last Saturday night with a ball.

The new depot will rapidly rise.

The hitching post on Locust street are an intolerable nuisance which should be speedily abated. Only last Saturday two ladies had fine dresses ruined by being bespattered with mud by horses stamping in the dirty pools bordering the sidewalk on the east side of Locust street next to Third, and every day or two similar occurrence takes place. The city authorities should take steps to abate the nuisance on our principal thoroughfares at once.

The suspicion of murder which was placed upon the Steinbeck brothers, farmers in Merrick county, by the sudden disappearance of Gustave Hagener their employee, has been cleared away. It appears that Hagener is alive and well at some point in Colorado. So reads a letter to Hagener's father living in Duff, Nebr. Thus the innocence of the Steinbecks is verified.

Mrs. S. P. Nelson and sister Mrs. Seim and children left for Denver yesterday to remain part of the summer.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. Fuehrmann's father died last Saturday about noon at Brunswick, Germany. The report came by cable and arrived towards evening of the same day.

Wolbach's store force has had a group picture taken. The clerks are grouped about the able proprietor and the genial manager, and the whole constitutes a pretty photo.

Chet Dike and Black Diamond Joe, who appear at the G.A.R. ball tomorrow evening in Grand Island, favored this office with a novelty concert this morning, which convinces us that all who go to hear them will get the best entertainment for the money ever witnessed in that city, and something entirely outside of the ordinary line. Go and hear them.

That "Imported" Labor

The Grand Island Democrat and the Grand Island Journal, in the hope of making a little capital thereby, have been tearing their undergarments by their ranting about alleged "imported" labor employed on the beet farm of the Oxnard beet sugar company. The real facts are that no imported labor has been employed on said farm. It is simply true that among the help there employed are about one hundred and fifty German Russians, counting men, women and children, but all of them were secured from neighboring localities in this state, and not from any other state or from any foreign country. They are all inhabitants of Nebraska and were hired at Hastings, Geneva, Sutton, Lincoln and in the vicinity of said towns. They are hired for six months, for doing the hand labor only, and are paid eighteen dollars per month each, including both men and women, and this includes their board and living expenses, and this we believe is about the ruling price paid by farmers for common farm hands hired through the season. The children old enough to work in the field are paid from $10 to $17 per month, each, according to age and ability to work, and the children not able to work are charged only $2 per month for board and keeping, a price seemingly quite low enough, and of this $2 per month the parents of the children pay only $1.00 and the company the other dollar in addition to the wages paid the parents. The people have resided in this state from a few weeks to three years, and are industrious frugal people, and none of them illiterate. Some of them have already taken out their papers. they are a Sunday observing people, and we believe will make good desirable citizens. There were simply unemployed people in neighboring localities, hired because of inability of the company to get enough men at home to go out to the farm and work through the season at the ruling price for common farm laborers, hence there is no just ground for criticism. All the team work on the farm is done by neighboring farmers at prices mutually agreed upon.

This hue and cry is simply to create prejudice and political capital. The people there employed have the same right to earn a living as any other class of people, and most of those who are doing the kicking would not do the work they are employed to do, at any price. They would prefer to stand on the street corners and work their mouths complaining about having nothing to do, and yet unwilling to do the work there is to do. Those who know all the facts can find no cause for complaint in regard to the labor problem on the sugar beet farm.
