A fire started in the mine Tuesday night, when 500 miners were below. The employees made a frantic effort to reach the shaft of exit. Many were cut off by the flames. Their cries could be heard even above the conflagration and thousands hastened to assist in the rescue.

In the first confusion it was believed that only thirty men were missing, but a house to house inquiry among the miner's families revealed the fact that nearly two hundred miners were left in the pit. The number is known to be at least as high as 175. The list of the 200 miners believed to have been left in the pit and burned has been posted so that if any of the number had escaped, his friends might come forward with the information. Not a name has been erased, however, and the constant inquiry of the police in the city has been fruitless. One hundred families have been derived of all their male members by the disaster.

STATE NEWS

Omaha, May 27—The final session of the Methodist quadrennial conference was held yesterday. Several things were resolved in yesterday's session, but the woman question is yet open. The judiciary committee reported that the word "laymen," in the discipline, did not mean both sexes, but that it had reference to men only. The committee did not mean to take the ground that women should not be admitted, but simply that the meaning of the word "laymen" as it was placed in the discipline years ago did not include women. Dr. D.H. Moore, the women's champion, offered a substitute declaring that the plan of lay delegation was not a constitutional question, but it might be decided by the action of the general conference and therefore that the general conference might decide the right to admit women to the general conference without a constitutional change.

St. Paul, Neb. May 23, 1892. Editor Independent:—A Mrs. Neil was killed near Elba this county a few days ago, in a rather romantic manner; according to reports received of the accident, It appears that she for several nights in succession had been dreaming of a lot of treasure being buried and concealed near her home, in her delusion she went digging for it, and while so engaged, the bank caved in and buried her, and when found she was dead.

Dr. J.W. Hamilton introduced an amendment. He wanted the annual conferences to vote upon a proposition to make the word "laymen" mean men only, and if this amendment was not carried by a two-thirds vote the word "laymen" should mean both men and women.

The question was then divided. Dr. Moore's part of the paper was laid on the table.

Dr. Hamilton's substitution was then adopted by a vote of 241 to 160, to take the place of all other parts of the paper and to be submitted to the annual conferences.

Nebraska Anniversary.

Celebrating the Completion of Her

Twenty-fifth Year of Statehood.

Lincoln, May 27—The programme in the celebration of the silver anniversary of Nebraska's statehood consisted largely of outdoor exercises. The capitol grounds, where the anniversary exercises took place, were the center of attraction nearly all day, the plot being crowded with a dense mass of people, Governor Boyd presided. On the stage with him were Mayor Weir, ex-Governor Furnass, G.W. Lambertson, the orator of the day, and a number of other dignitaries. Governor Boyd was introduced by the mayor and made a speech of welcome, in which he reviewed the history of the state's wonderful progress and compared the present prosperity of Nebraska with the conditions existing in 1854, when its site was marked by a desert.

At the conclusion of his speech, the governor introduced Mr. Lambertson, who delivered an eloquent address, referring in an extended way to state traditions, the admission of Nebraska and the progress of the commonwealth since its birth. An "Ode to the Silver Anniversary of Nebraska" was read, and after music, the assemblage dispersed. The parade that followed consisted of numerous floats representing the leading industries of the state, and an elaborate electrical display, lasting far into the night, concluded the celebration.

Omaha, May 31—There is a rumor among those on the inside that S.H.H. Clark's trip to the west to meet Jay Gould is for no other purpose than to effect an alliance between the Missouri Pacific and Great Northern by the aid of the Sioux City and Northern. This sort of a deal would not give the Great Northern an entrance into Omaha but would carry an invaluable alliance.

The American Protective Association of Catholic-haters have a large sized scandal on their hands, the state deputy of this order in Nebraska, a Mr. Winspear, is accused of having received a bribe of $1,500 at the last election in order to make all the benighted member of that order vote for F. E. Moores for clerk of the court. The money was intended for the order, but it is said to have gone, where it could do the most good to Winspear. The general executive committee of the order investigates the matter; but with obstacles, which Winspear, understood to throw in their way. Moores has testified to the payment of $1,500 to Winspear: so reports the World Herald. This is quite a lesson to the public, teaching them that many of those, who claim to be benefactors of the people, are nothing but swindlers, and also a lesson to would-be bribers, showing them that venal men and venal papers are not worth the money squandered on them.

A Preacher's Protest Against Base Ball on Sunday

Grand Island, Neb., June 1st '92
Mr. Fred Hedde, Editor, Independent:—Dear Sir, As a minister of the gospel in Grand Island, and an appreciative reader of your excellent daily paper, I want to thank you for the very polite rebuke given in your issue of yesterday, to one "Rourks and the Fowler" for their altercation and fight on the base ball grounds last Sabbath.

Will you permit me to further say, that the Christian sentiment of our city and vicinity is deeply grieved at the existence of base ball games in our city on the Sabbath day.

We believe it is demoralizing to our children and youth, subservience of the divine purpose of the Sabbath, and that it brings opprobrium upon the good name of our city abroad, that can not benefit her reputation, nor add to the good quality of her growing reputation.

I do not wish to denounce this popular game indiscriminately. divested of the gambling, Sabbath desecration and other social or individual vices incident to the game, it may be an innocent game. But if our city could be rid of it on the Sabbath day there would be great rejoicing.

Yours Truly, J. E. Moore
